1.Breast and cervical cancer:

Breast cancer followed by cervical cancer are the two most important cancers found in women, regardless of race and ethnicity. One in eight women are diagnosed with breast cancer during their life-time. Students were clearly explained about the early signs of these two diseases and they were informed that if detected in early stage it can be cure in more than 90 percentage of cases. Mammography can help in detection of breast cancer and PAP smear test can help in detection of cervical cancer.

2. Women Educational Issues and challenges:

Women are extremely capable but have to face a number of challenges which are dependent on the various social, economic conditions. In society even these play a vital role, where they are forbidden to continue studies with increase in age. They are not permitted to move out of the house. Students belonging to such social conditions were encouraged to educate their neighbours, friends and relatives. Economic conditions prevailing among them also deter them. However, awareness was being created among all the students informing them that they could give tuitions, work part-time in shops and earn money to continue their education. We also have married students, pregnant students and lactating mothers. During these times the easiest option is to stop studying, however students are being encouraged to complete their course with determination. Only if they are able to overcome these situations, then only they can go ahead.

3. Awareness on HIV:

On 1 December WHO joins partners to commemorate World AIDS Day 2022, under the theme “Equalize” It is calling on global leaders and citizens to boldly recognize and address the inequalities which are holding back progress in ending AIDS and equalize access to essential HIV services. There are many inequalities from testing to treatment. Moreover emphasis is being laid on removal of stigma associated with the disease, as well as discrimination in all health services. Department of Microbiology in association with Women empowerment Cell conducted Poster Presentation. Hence awareness was created among students.

4. Awareness on computing skills for women:

The world is quickly progressing with technological advancement, where digitalization is playing an important role. It is here that computing skills have become inevitable. Now only Literates are no longer sufficient to handle various situations. However, now we require computer literates too. So beginning to learn the various MS Office, MS word, is inevitable for the students, with any background. They should know basic typing skills and using the various tools of MS office to do calculations, to prepare tables, graphs etc. There are so many applications of computers from animations, photo shopping, gaming, cloud computing that it has encompassed the daily lives of every individual. It is inevitable that we make our students work and familiarize themselves.

5. Legal Awareness program in students:

Our constitution has constituted fundamental rights and duties for the citizens of India. However the awareness on the various legal implications is very less. Now a days with increase in cyber crimes it is necessary for each and every student to try to understand the basic laws so that they do not enter into the wrong side of the law. Whether it is related to crime, abusing women, eve teasing or at work place they might get implicated under different sections. They should also be careful in economic issues including tax related issues.

Ms. T. Anusha Reddy creating awareness on legal aspects.

6. Development of Leadership skills in Women:

Women are born leaders, with their capability of Multi-tasking. However with curbs in society, sometimes they are being repressed from expressing their capabilities. They require confidence in their ability and trust their instincts to take good decisions and choices. They should develop clarity of thought .and develop the instincts to visualize clearly. They should be encouraged to develop enthusiasm, determination and self-awareness. All these aspects will help women in honing up their skills. Women were found to be more emphatic and flexible.

Ms. Uma motivating the students on developing leadership skills in women

7. Women in science:

Marie Curie was one of the most famous woman of her time and she was also the first woman to receive the Nobel prize. Women are prevalent in all fields of science as medicine, research, environmental scientists, space research, Engineering, computer science etc. However they are lesser in number as the hierarchy increases. Hence data wise the representation is decreasing. It is the duty of each and every science student to ensure that their name gets etched in the higher echelons of science and to increase the representation so that women can show their presence.

9. Menstrual hygiene:

Maintaining cleanliness is supposed to be one of the most precautionary measure to improve the health conditions. However it is important for girls to also maintain hygienic conditions especially during menstruation. It is necessary that whatever sanitary napkins they use should be sterilised.

This is extremely necessary to prevent any type of infections from occurring. It is also necessary that the napkins should be changed frequently. Awareness is being created regarding the challenges to access products, educating about menstruation, and period-friendly sanitation facilities.

Ms. Ch. Karuna stressing on menstrual hygiene.
