7.1.9 Sensitization of students and employees of the Institution to the constitutional obligations: values, rights, duties and responsibilities of citizens.

It is the duty of the college to ensure that the students, staff are sensitized to the human values and ethical values, constitutional obligations. Inculcation of Human values plays a pivotal role in understanding the problems of the students with a humane touch. Sessions are organized on topics like Human values for the students, to motivate them and instill strong moral character.

Various competitions are being organized on Socially relevant and stimulating topics. This helps them in analyzing and activating their thinking processes. Debates and Group discussions are being conducted to have them a feel of various viewpoints.

Students are encouraged to attend the National festivals and develop a sense of patriotism. Celebrating the National festivals helps students in learning about the freedom struggle. Cultural and literary programs are organized including NCC and NSS volunteers. On Republic day, events are organized to create awareness regarding the Constitution. National Voters Day is celebrated to increase awareness among the students to make them realise the importance of exercising their franchise. Antiragging is strictly enforced in the campus.

- Antiragging is strictly enforced in the campus
- Right to Information (Article 19(1)(a)) As a student they can express themselves freely but freedom of speech cannot be used to malign others.
- Human rights and constitutional obligations

1. Freedom of speech and expression

Freedom of speech and expression to students is guaranteed in Article 19(1)(A) of the Constitution. This implies that all the citizens have the right to freely express themselves freely. This includes not only words of mouth but also a speech by way of writings, pictures, movies, banners etc. The right to speech also includes not to speak. The First Amendment guarantees our right to free expression and free association, which means that the government does not have the right to forbid us from saying what we like and writing what we like; we can form clubs and organizations, and take part in demonstrations and rallies.

2. Human rights and constitutional obligations:

Human rights are essential liberties and rights to which every person is entitled, regardless of their race, nationality, or other attributes. The responsibilities and duties set forth in a nation's constitution are referred to as constitutional obligations. Human rights are protected and upheld by many constitutions, therefore governments are required by law to respect and preserve these rights for their populations. A country's constitutional framework frequently provides a legal basis for advancing and defending human rights.

3. Rights and Responsibilities of Students:

Rights and Responsibilities of Students by Shri Venkatesh

If a child learns to be responsible right from the beginning then it paves a golden path for the future. It is the stage to shape one's character and moral duties. At school, various tasks are assigned to the students where they learn to become responsible. If right from childhood responsibility is not given to them they do not understand its importance in life. Responsibility should be handled through various steps. One major responsibility of a student is to acquire education. A nation develops when the population is educated and can contribute to human resources. To contribute towards building a strong nation is a key responsibility of a student. It is the prime duty of both College and home to make the students realize how to become responsible. Once a student gathers knowledge through education then they can shape their lives in a positive direction accordingly. We know education empowers an individual to discriminate what is right or wrong. Education develops the potential of that particular individual so if the students handle the responsibility of acquiring education then they can contribute to a better nation. Nation demands such students to be responsible citizens in the future and can fight against crime, treachery, dishonesty, or crime. We have discussed the responsibility of a student towards the country. But it does not end here. A student should learn to handle responsibility while in College.

4. Human Values in students:

Human values in students By Ms Safia Sulthana

In today's world, high-quality education is becoming increasingly important. Students need to be trained not just for academic and professional success, but to be equipped with essential life skills and values needed to navigate through the various challenges they may encounter in life. This is why human value education has become an important aspect of modern education.

Human value education consists of teaching students about the values, beliefs, attitudes, and behaviors that are essential for leading a successful and fulfilling life. It aims not just to impart knowledge, but also to develop students who are empathetic, kind, respectful, and responsible members of society. Some of the most important human values that are taught in modern education include:

Compassion is the ability to understand and feel the pain and struggles of others. Students need to be taught compassion so that they can develop the ability to empathize with others and take action to help those in need.

Honesty is the foundation of trust, and a critical value that students need to learn early on in life. It is important for them to understand the importance of being truthful, both in their personal and professional lives.

Respect is a value that should be given and received by all. It involves treating others with dignity and honor, regardless of their social status, ethnicity, or background. Students need to be taught to respect themselves, their peers, and those in positions of authority.

Responsibility is the ability to take charge of one's actions and be accountable for the outcomes. Students should be taught to take responsibility for their behavior and actions, and to recognize the impact they have on others around them.

5. Responsibilities and duties of students:

Various occasions are celebrated in the college premises which are majorly conducted by the students. So when they are assigned duty it is their responsibility to perform it with great care. These rewards acknowledge the potential of students and arouse a sense of responsibility towards the College. These small steps actually instill a deep sense of responsibility amongst the students.

Home and parents are the most important part of a student to learn how to become responsible. students from a tender age should be aware of the responsibility that every family member has to perform in the family environment, in their own capacity. Students must acquire values of fellow-feeling, empathy, and respect for other.. This helps them to have a healthy relationship with others with whom they interact. They learn the value of teamwork and become responsible to contribute and share without being self-centered and selfish. Students should keep in mind it's their responsibility to always demonstrate such behavior, attitude and actions that reflect their culture and family values.

6. Legal Awareness Program For Students:

Our constitution has constituted fundamental rights and duties for the citizens of India. However the awareness on the various legal implications is very less. Now a days with increase in cyber crimes it is necessary for each and every student to try to understand the basic laws so that they do not enter into the wrong side of the law. Whether it is related to crime, abusing women, eve teasing or at work place they might get implicated under different sections. They should also be careful in economic issues including tax related issues.
